Banco del Progreso Completes Marina and La Romana Branches Remodeling

Banco del Progreso, one of the country's largest banks with 57 branches nationwide recently refurbished its Marina and La Romana branches. According to a press release, the remodeling is part of the bank's strategic plan, which includes creating new and modern branches, with a view to offering clients a closer, more agile and efficient service.

Established in 1974, Banco del Progreso is owned by the Vicini Group, one of the country's largest business entities. Area manager Daniel Sánchez explained: "The remodeling of our facilities is part of a new management model, aimed at getting closer to our customers and being more effective in our platform of services and financial solutions." He adds that this new model incorporates green building technology, which represents energy saving and will contribute to environmental conservation.

"We wanted to make the most of the space in these structures so that our clients are more comfortable, in a cozy, safe location that includes privacy when making private transactions or receiving financial advice," he stated. The Marina branch is open daily from 9 am to 5 pm Monday to Friday and Saturdays until 1 pm. For more information call ext. 7070.
